Policy

Whosoever Ministries, Inc./The Basement is a Christian, nonprofit organization committed to excellence, integrity, and your privacy. Our mission is to earn and build your trust and confidence by promoting and upholding the highest standards concerning principles of disclosure and informed consent. This Privacy Policy is provided to inform you of the ways we gather and use information on www.thebasementonline.com ("Website"). This Privacy Policy does not apply to any website "linked" to this Website, and Whosoever Ministries is not responsible for the privacy policies or the content of such other websites.

Information Collection

Please be aware that Whosoever Ministries is committed to upholding the highest level of confidentiality and security for those who choose to visit our Website. The types of information collected by Whosoever Ministries on this Website fall under one of two categories: Anonymous or Personal.

Anonymous Information

Anonymous information cannot be traced back to a specific individual. Our web servers automatically record the IP address (the general location where the user is logged) of each visitor to this Website and tracks how many people visit our Website. We use this type of anonymous information to administer our Website more effectively, personalize this Website for you, and gain general information about the backgrounds and sources of visitors.

Personal Information

Personal information identifies who you are. This is information that you personally and voluntarily provide as a result of a prompt on the Website. Such information includes, but is not limited to, your name, postal address, phone number, and email address. Credit card numbers may also be collected when online transactions occur through our Website. Following is a list of ways that Whosoever Ministries collects personal information from this Website:

Online Requests for Information

When you request information online from our Website, we ask for certain information in order to process your request. The information may include, but is not limited to, your name, postal address, phone number, email address, and other demographic information. Unless you "opt out," we may also use that information to send you additional literature about Whosoever Ministries and its conferences and resources.

Online Registration of Our Partners

When an individual becomes a partner with Whosoever Ministries, certain information is collected to allow us to provide you with the highest degree of excellent service. The information collected in our online registration may include, but is not limited to, your name, postal address, phone number, email address, and other demographic information. Please be aware that we value your privacy, and your registration information is protected by password for your privacy and security. Unless you "opt out," we may use the information you voluntarily provide to send you additional literature about Whosoever Ministries and its conferences and resources.

Online Transactions

When you desire to purchase resources from our Website or make a donation, certain information is necessary to allow us to ship your order to you as quickly and efficiently as possible or process your online donation. The information collected in an online transaction may include, but is not limited to, your name, credit card information, postal address, phone number, email address, and other demographic information. Because your privacy is of the utmost importance to us, we have taken steps to ensure that online transactions through our Website take place via encrypted secure servers. All the information you include and submit with your order or request for online donation is passed through our encrypted secure servers through the use of Verisign technology. With Verisign technology your card is charged electronically, and your actual account number is never presented to the merchant from whom you made your purchase.

Cookies

Cookies are small data files that can be placed on your hard drive by websites that you visit. The only personal information that a cookie can contain is information that you provide to us personally. Whosoever Ministries uses cookies to gather and store personal information that is collected when online transactions occur on our Website, as well as passwords and preferences (used for secure login) of partners visiting our Website.

Information Sharing and Disclosure

Whosoever Ministries will not rent, sell, lease, or share personal information about you with other organizations, except in response to subpoenas, court orders, or privacy processes, or to establish and/or exercise our legal rights.

However, when an online transaction occurs that involves the shipment of a package, we will provide an email address to our shipping provider (UPS) for tracking purposes only.

Children's Policy

If you are under the age of sixteen, you must ask your parent or guardian before you email this Website, request that Whosoever Ministries send any information to you, or purchase any resources on this Website.
